FUND OBJECTIVE

The Wells Fargo/State Street Target 2025 CIT seeks total return over time, consistent with its strategic target allocation. There is no assurance that a fund will achieve its objective.

FUND STRATEGY

- Pursues its objective through investment in a combination of underlying collective investment funds (each an underlying fund), although it is also possible that the funds will directly hold securities or other assets. Each underlying fund is advised by State Street Global Advisors (SSGA).
- Employs an investment strategy that gradually reduces a fund's potential market risk exposure over time to generally become more conservative as the fund's target year approaches and after it arrives by reallocating a fund's assets among two major asset classes: equity and fixed income. Funds with longer time horizons generally allocate more of their assets to equity securities. Funds with shorter time horizons generally allocate more of their assets to fixed-income holdings.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Current performance may be higher or lower than that quoted. Investment return and principal value will fluctuate so that units, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original costs. Performance for other unit classes will differ due to different fee structures and other factors. All values are unaudited and subject to revision. All income is reinvested in the Fund and reflected in the unit value. Fund returns are reported net of the annual fund expenses, primarily including audit, custody, fund accounting and investment advisory expenses, charged to the Fund, but does not include the potential impact of taxes applicable to an investment in the fund. All investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal.

Benchmarks are provided for illustrative purposes only. Comparisons to benchmarks have limitations because benchmarks have volatility and other material characteristics that may differ from those of the fund. Because of these differences, benchmarks should not be relied upon as an accurate measure of comparison. The performance shown is compared to a broad-based securities market index. Broad-based securities indices are unmanaged and are not subject to fees and expenses typically associated with investment products.

Risks: The Fund is subject to the risks of the underlying funds in which it invests and is indirectly subject to the underlying fund expenses as well as the expenses of the portfolio. An underlying fund of a fund of funds may experience relatively large redemptions or investments as the fund of funds periodically reallocates or rebalances its assets. These transactions may cause the underlying fund to sell portfolio securities to meet such redemptions, or to invest cash from such investments, at times it would not otherwise. Investments in fixed-income securities are subject to market, interest rate, credit and other risks. Bond prices fluctuate inversely to changes in interest rates. Therefore, a general rise in interest rates can result in the decline in the bond's price. Credit risk is the risk that an issuer will default on payments of interest and/or principal. This risk is heightened in lower rated bonds. If sold prior to maturity, fixed income securities are subject to market risk. All fixed income investments may be worth less than their original cost upon redemption or maturity. Equity securities are subject to market risk which means their value may fluctuate in response to general economic and market conditions, the prospects of individual companies, and industry sectors. Investments in equity securities are generally more volatile than other types of securities. Investing in foreign securities presents certain risks not associated with domestic investments, such as currency fluctuation, political and economic instability, and different accounting standards. This may result in greater share price volatility. These risks are heightened in emerging markets. Consult the CIT's disclosure document for additional information on these and other risks.

Definitions of terms: Weighted Median Market Capitalization is the calculation represented by the median market capitalization of the stocks in the portfolio, weighted by the amount of each stock.

Average duration is a measurement of the sensitivity of a bond's price to changes in Treasury yields. A fund's duration is the weighted average of duration of the bonds in the portfolio. Duration should be interpreted as the approximate change in a bond's (or fund's) price for a 100-basis-point change in Treasury yields.

Portfolio turnover is calculated by taking either the total amount of new securities purchased or the amount of securities sold (whichever is less) over a particular period, divided by the total net asset value of the fund.
